Tech-Fast seeks foothold in the United States:

As the next stage of the companies globalisation programme, Tech-Fast is seeking to establish a base in the United States. The business will be focussed upon serving the NAFTA (North American Free Trade Area) region, which includes Mexico & Canada.

Sales focus will be directed at the distribution market to end-users in the major markets, which echoes the strategy in the European market.

In order to achieve it's goals the company is seeking to make contact with all interested parties. Of particular interest are:

- 1/ Distributors of technical plastic fasteners
- 2/ Local authorities regarding business location
- 3/ Individuals with relevant knowledge & experience
- 4/ Manufacturers of technical plastic fasteners with key technologies & capabilities

With the recent commencement our Asia-Pacific operation, focus is now upon defining & creating this the third location for the company. Whilst still some time away from being operational key decisions have to be taken at this early stage. Not least of which is location.

Therefore, individuals who would be interested to work with us could play a major part in identifying location & being involved from the earliest stages of building the business. So it is these individuals that we seek early contact with, to get involved with a growing business at the fundamental level.

During the intervening period we shall continue to serve customers through the European channel.

The NAFTA market is extremely important to the future of the business & we very much look forward to growing deep & strong roots in the United States
