Plastic Fastener Company welcomes signs of increased economic activity

Tech-Fast is pleased to confirm that general interest and market confidence is growing

End of the recession.....?

As the signs of economic recovery strengthen Tech-Fast is pleased to see order book levels above those prior to the downturn. Customer acquisition has shown significant growth in recent months as well adding to the overall strengthening picture for the UK and European economies.

As confidence returns customers have been seeking the very best terms they can to bolster the green shoots of recovery, this has involved more activity in purchasing departments looking for the new supply sources. A significant increase in traffic through the Tech-Fast web site has offered new opportunities to purchasing teams throughout Europe.

Previously having bought goods from distributors or other manufacturers, these companies have found that Tech-Fast is able to meet expectations in regards to pricing levels, leading them to change supply source. In turn this offers Tech-Fast chance to proliferate further parts into these new customers.

As this process has developed, the company has been asked to seriously review product offer specific to the electronics market sectors.

In answer to this Tech-Fast will launch several new product sectors during the end of 2009 and beginning of 2010 aimed directly at the electronics sector. Further announcements will follow.

When it comes to 'engineered solutions to everyday problems' talk to Tech-Fast first, we are where industry comes to for the answers to their fastening & fixing needs in plastic.
